title:-Doctors Mysteriously Found Dead After Summit For Breakthrough Cure For Cancer text:-The medical community at large is a gasp as several holistic doctors were found dead after apparently committing "suicide†over the last year. The fatalities have seemingly occurred after a breakthrough cancer treatment was just announced. Via AlternativeNews What is This New Treatment? The newly developed cancer treatment involves the human protein GcMAF (Globulin component Macrophage Activating Factor). GcMAF works by activating macrophages that are already present within the human body. These macrophages can fight against and destroy cancerous cells. GcMAF is produced naturally inside the body however some people cannot make enough levels of this vital human protein to ward off disease and infection. The idea is that by administering this protein to people, the immune system can be strengthened to fight cancer and reducing the need for more intense, invasive procedures such as chemotherapy or radiation therapy. These forms of therapy can often lead to more cancer and deteriorate the human body. What the GcMAF Website Says: Your GcMAF empowers your body to cure itself. In a healthy person your own GcMAF has 11 actions discovered so far, including two on cells, three excellent effects on the brain, and 6 on cancer. Amongst these it acts as a †director' of your immune system. Time lapse photography over 60 hours shows the cancer monolayer … first changing from corrugated to smooth … as the cancer is destroyed. [T]hen the cancer â€~fingers' are also eaten and destroyed by the macrophages. This news is welcomed by everyone. Well, everyone but the mutli-billion dollar cancer industry. The significance of GcMAF's power could put a major industry out of business – and that's the exact reason why the deaths of several holistic doctors has alarmed many. In just one instance, Florida doctor Dr. Jeff Bradstreet, M.D., who focused heavily on researching GcMAF, was found dead in a river last year. Despite the fact that Bradstreet had a gunshot wound to his chest, his sudden death was ruled a suicide right away. This "suicide†â€" which was later discovered to be a murder – is just out of about seven mysterious deaths that happened in the same time period â€" all of them holistic doctors who were focused on the potential of GcMAF to treat and cure cancer. In just the last year, SIXTY deaths have been reported in the holistic community as more natural, less conventional routes to medicine are explored upon. Although it's not known yet whether there is a correlation or not between these deaths, one thing's for certain in that it seems Big Pharma has a lot to lose by the gays were in the closet, immigrants were invisible and women stayed in the kitchen, Senator Jefferson Beauregard Sessions is your man. No senator has fought harder against the hopes and aspirations of Latinos, immigrants and people of color than Senator Sessions. †Some Democrats kept their immediate challenges minimal for Mr. Pompeo. "As a member of the House Intelligence Committee, Congressman Pompeo has a firsthand appreciation for Congress' responsibility to provide vigilant oversight of our nation's intelligence activities, and I look forward to learning more about his views,†said Senator Mark R. Warner of Virginia, the incoming Senate Intelligence Committee vice chairman. On the other hand, Jon Soltz, chairman of the liberal veterans group VoteVets. org, greeted the selection of Mr. Pompeo by saying, "This administration is turning out to be as scary, bigoted and abnormal as most people feared. †As for General Flynn? "Michael Flynn has shown a stunning contempt for the Geneva Conventions and other laws prohibiting torture,†said Sarah Margon, Washington director at Human Rights Watch. "By offering this key post to Flynn, Trump is undermining U. S. commitments to international laws that have been broken to America's detriment. †Vice Mike Pence told the news media on Friday that teams of transition staff members who will be working directly with federal agencies had arrived in Washington. "The is a man of action, and we've got a great number of men and women

"Chris Van Hollen was our first choice for D. S. C. C. chairman because of his talents, his work ethic and his experience,†Mr. Schumer said in a statement. "The map is tough for Democrats, but I have no doubt that with great qualifications looking forward to serving in this administration, and I am just humbled to be a part of it,†Mr. Pence said. He added, "I am very confident it will be a smooth transition that will serve to lead this country forward and make America great again. †Mr. Pence walked away as a reporter asked whether the was racist. Mr. Pompeo, the 's pick to direct the C. I. A. may also be a way for Mr. Trump to warm relations with

Van Hollen is up to the task. †Tough indeed: Democrats gained a mere two Senate seats on Election Day â€" New Hampshire and Illinois â€" and will be defending a daunting 23 seats in 2018, as well as two held by independents who caucus with them â€" Angus King of Maine and Bernie Sanders of Vermont â€" and roughly half of those states were won by Trump. In contrast, Democrats have one real target, Senator Dean Heller of Nevada, and maybe two with Jeff Flake of Arizona if things go south for the new president. (Of note, Mr. Van Hollen knows the highs and lows of the job, having led the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee for his party's 2008 wave, then getting washed out in the 2010 Republican deluge.) For anyone hoping for tempers to cool and partisans to moderate, welcome to the rest of 2016. The choice of Senator Jeff Sessions of Alabama to be attorney general and Representative Mike Pompeo of Kansas to be director of central intelligence â€" as well as Lt. Gen. Michael T. Flynn to be national security adviser â€" appear to have put to rest talk of a period after Election Day. Conservative groups are ecstatic. The Trump transition team hailed Mr. Sessions as a champion of civil rights. "Senator Sessions is someone who's universally respected across party lines in the United States Senate,†said Jason Miller, a Trump transition spokesman. The other side? Representative Luis V. Gutiérrez, Democrat of Illinois, said in a statement: "lf you have nostalgia for the days when blacks kept quiet, the Koch Industries directors Charles G. and David H. Koch. Mr. Pompeo was first elected to Congress with a large amount of financial support and a prominent public endorsement from the Koch brothers, and the Kansas congressman has remained closely aligned with them since. Individuals associated with Koch Industries are by far the biggest donors to Mr. Pompeo's political career, contributing $357, 000 to him since 2009. The Koch brothers â€" among the biggest players in financing Republican candidates nationwide â€" remained largely on the sidelines in this year's presidential race. Mr. Pompeo has been a staunch proponent of bringing newly captured terrorism suspects to the prison at GuantÃ; namo Bay, Cuba, for interrogation and detention, as President Obama has refused to do. At a 2013 congressional hearing, Mr. Pompeo called the prison operation in Cuba lawful and humane, and dismissed a hunger strike among the detainees at the time as a "political stunt. †â€œWe are still engaged in a counterterrorism battle all around the globe that continue to need to have a secure location in which to detain captured enemy combatants remains,†Mr. Pompeo said. Mr. Pompeo has also been a defender of broad government surveillance programs and an opponent of limits the Obama administration imposed after the leaks of the former intelligence contractor Edward J. Snowden. Those included the U. S. A. Freedom Act, which ended the National Security Agency's program that collected Americans' domestic calling records in bulk and replaced it with a system in which the government has to get a court order to obtain specific records from phone companies. In an he in January, Mr. Pompeo called for rolling back such reforms. Mr. Pompeo was a prominent member of the special House committee that investigated the 2012 attacks in Benghazi, Libya. Although the panel found no new evidence of wrongdoing by the Obama administration or Secretary of State Hillary Clinton, Mr. Pompeo and another conservative member of the committee, Representative Jim Jordan of Ohio, were convinced of a wider. When the committee released its findings in June, the two Republicans filed their own addendum that was far harsher. The addendum said that the attacks showed that the State Department was "seemingly more concerned with politics and Secretary Clinton's legacy than with protecting its people in Benghazi. †a€œWith the presidential election just 56 days away, rather than tell the American people the truth and increase the risk of losing an election, the administration told one story privately and a different story publicly,†they concluded. Trey Gowdy, the committee's chairman and no shrinking violet when it came to Mrs. Clinton, did not put his name on the addendum. The made quite a boast on Twitter on Thursday. Followed by: The only wrinkle: Ford was never planning to move the plant. During the campaign, Mr. Trump repeatedly criticized Ford for moving production to Mexico, and he threatened to impose a 35 percent tariff on vehicles made there. Ford makes the Lincoln MKC, a sport utility vehicle, at a factory in Louisville. Last week, Ford said it planned to move production of the vehicle elsewhere. But Ford had not planned to close the Louisville factory. Instead, it had planned to expand production of another vehicle made in Louisville, the Ford Escape. And the change had not been expected to result in any job losses. "Whatever happens in Louisville, it will not lose employment,†Jimmy Settles, a union official, told The Detroit Free Press. "They cannot make enough Escapes. â€ Predciton from our model- its not fake news
